DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-10 and 37, drawn to an organic semiconductor device, classified in class 257, subclass 40.
  - II. Claims 11-36, drawn to method of manufacturing an organic semiconductor device, classified in class 438, subclass 99.
2. Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process such as forming the organic semiconductor layer by a chemical vapor deposition process.
3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In the case the applicants elected invention I the following is proper.

5. Invention I contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: the first species directed to an organic semiconductor device including a polysiloxane compound formed on an organic semiconductor layer so as to be in intimate contact with the organic semiconductor layer; and the second species directed to an organic semiconductor device including a crystallization promoting layer and an organic semiconductor layer in contact with the crystallization layer. The species are independent or distinct because the first species does not require a crystallization promoting layer and the second species does not require the polysiloxane layer of the first species.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

In the case the applicants elect invention II the following is proper:

6. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: the first species directed to a method of manufacturing an organic semiconductor device including a semiconductor layer containing porphyrin and a polysiloxane compound in such a manner that the layers are in intimate contact with each other; and the second species directed to a method of manufacturing an organic semiconductor device including providing a crystallization promoting layer on a substrate and providing an organic semiconductor precursor on the crystallization promoting layer. The species are independent or distinct because the first species does not require the specific process of manufacturing the semiconductor layer and the second species does not require providing a polysiloxane compound as required for the first species.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).
